HISTORY

Discovery Green was the vision of Mayor Bill White and the dedication of some of Houston's most generous citizens who worked to transform two surface parking lots into a dynamic urban space. A public private partnership was created between the City of Houston and the Discovery Green Conservancy. The first step in the process of creating Houston's new park was to seek input from Houston's own residents, in a series of public meetings and focus groups, to identify what the city's diverse population valued in an outdoor destination. The group also investigated the best practices of a wide range of parks in other great cities. An ambitious plan was developed to create an uncommonly beautiful space with a vibrant program of diverse events.

Since opening in April 2008, Discovery Green has become a desirable urban gathering place for Houstonians and the millions of visitors to the city of Houston, a model for other public spaces and a catalyst for economic development in downtown Houston.

PROJECT COST

$125 million

THE NAME

The Conservancy sought the help of the public by creating a contest to name the park. More than 6,200 entries were submitted, and "Discovery Green" was selected as it fit the personality of the park, invited discovery and education, delight and surprise.

DESIGN

The Discovery Green design team included Hargreaves Associates, PageSoutherlandPage and Lauren Griffith Associates. Artists Margo Sawyer and Doug Hollis were integral members of the design team and produced three works of art for the park. A large team of local and international engineers and specialists supported the core design team. Learn more about the History of Discovery Green.
